

“What They Are Saying”

“The years between adolescence and adulthood are uncharted territory for families with special needs children. AbilityPath’s guide provides a much-needed roadmap to this critical time of life and is an invaluable resource for families and the professionals who work with them.”

— Anthony Shriver, CEO of Best Buddies International

“It can be scary, it can be frustrating, but life is like that. You can surprise yourself. The path isn’t there. Your job is to make it.”

— Alexis Wineman, former Miss Montana

“People with special needs are just like you and me, and want to be a part of the community. Community inclusion is a key component of our work, and we strive to create this for everyone.”

— Sheryl Young, CEO of Community Gatepath

“This new guide from AbilityPath aids parents and their children with intellectual disabilities in preparing for the tough decisions they are faced with after graduation. It explores all the options available to a student. AbilityPath does an excellent job of spelling out every possibility and the positives of each situation.”

— Tim Shriver, Chairman of the Board for Special Olympics International

“The Journey to Life After High School provides a much needed, comprehensive and objective guide for students and their families as they prepare for adulthood. The guide values all post high school options and can be an invaluable resource for every student during their transitioning years. The planning checklists are incredible.”

— Fred Balcom, Director of the Special Education Division of the California Department of Education
